Activity 10

Comprehension

Read the passage and answer the questions in full sentences.

Man's activities and the environment

Our environment is where we get everything we use but some people do not care about saving it.

For many years, people have been clearing forests to make charcoal and to get land for growing crops and settling in.

Some people throw plastics and rubbish in the water sources. Some of them let dirty waste products from industries to flow into the water. This is very dangerous to the lives of people when they drink this water.

It is important for people to stop such activities and protect our environment. People should plant more trees and use good farming methods. They should use crop rotation, terracing and mulching. In the dry areas, people can use irrigation method to water and grow crops.

Plastics and glass should not be thrown in the environment because they do not rot and they spoil the soil.

Questions

1. Give one reason why people clear forests?
2. Mention one good farming method.
3. Where is irrigation needed?
4. Which things do not rot?
5. Write three things you should do to protect the environment.

You dry my clothe when the sun disappears
You help in pollination of my plants
I love you wind

Sun and wind I love you both
But sometimes you make me sad
Wind blows off my roof and breaks my crops
And you sun, you dry the water and cause thirst
What can I do dear sun and wind?

Faith's class at the Zoo

Last term, my class visited the Zoo. We wanted to see the animals and birds kept there. Near the gate to the Zoo, there was a bird in the nest. When the bird saw us, it flew away! After a close turn, there was a monkey swinging from one branch to another. When it saw us, it also ran away and hid in the forest.

The chimpanzees did not run away. They looked at us without fear. Two of them were carrying their babies. Later they sat down to breast feed them. It was interesting to see them behaving like human beings.

We toured different places at the Zoo. We were able to see lions, giraffes, buffaloes, zebras, camels and elephants. The zebras were peaceful. They ate grass together with the bucks. The lion was eating meat in its cage.

Other animals were at the lake drinking water. The crocodiles and hippos were in the lake swimming.

In the section of the birds, we saw peacocks, crested cranes, doves and ostriches. It was a very interesting place.

Questions

1. When did Faith's class visit the Zoo?
2. Why did her class go to the Zoo?
3. Which animals were peaceful?

How birds came to stay in people's homes.

A long time ago, all birds lived in the bush. One day, the king fell sick and was feeling lonely. He wanted to listen to nice music. That day, he sent for people to sing for him but their songs did not please him.

One elder suggested to the king that they bring in birds to the palace to sing for him. Everyone thought it was a funny idea but the king accepted. The elder brought in turkeys, ducks, hens and pigeons to sing. The birds sang very nice songs. The king was very happy.

Late in the evening, the birds requested the king to allow them go back to their homes. The king did not accept. He instead asked the birds to stay and be singing for him everyday. He told his servants to build shelters for them and also to give them food and water.

Since that time, the birds have been singing for the king to give them food and water.

Caring for animals

My name is Nyangwet. I live with my parents in Nakapiripiriti Sub-county. We keep domestic animals in our home. We have cows, goats, sheep and rabbits.

We care for these animals by looking for grass and water for them. We always take the cows, sheep and goats uphill to graze. After that we drive them to a nearby swamp in the valley to drink water.

My father built a big kraal for our cows. The sheep and the goats sleep in pens. We clean all these places every day.

Sometimes, we smoke the kraal to reduce mosquitoes from biting the animals. We have built a hutch for our rabbits to sleep in. we give them leaves to eat every day.

We protect our animals from dangerous animals like lions and hyenas. We have two dogs which guard domestic animals at night. Whenever the dogs see a strange animal, they bark to alert us of the danger. When our animals fall sick, we call a veterinary doctor to treat them.

Questions

1. Mention the animals Nyangwet's parents keep.
2. Which shelter do cows sleep in?
3. Why do they smoke the kraal?
4. Which animal protects other animals at night?

Crops in grandmother's garden

My name is Anna from Kumi. Last holiday, I visited my grandmother. She has big gardens of maize, yams and beans.

While at my grandmother's place, I helped her in the gardens. One day, I went with her to pick yams from a nearby wetland. Grandmother told me that yams grow well in wetlands.

Grandmother loves flowers very much so she has planted many of them in her compound. Last Sunday, when we were celebrating her seventieth birthday, we picked some flowers to decorate the house. It was a colourful function.

Grandmother also grows sisal to make ropes and bags. She taught me to make bags from sisal. I made one for myself which I use to carry my books to school. My friends like my bag because it is very beautiful. They have requested me to teach them to make bags like mine.

The P.3 class project

Last term, our teacher, Mr. Walusimbi asked us the kind of project we wanted to do. After our discussions, we agreed to start growing vegetables in the school garden. This would help us to raise money to buy textbooks for our new library. We agreed that we grow: cabbages, tomatoes, carrots and egg plants.

The following week, we cleared the school garden and planted the vegetables. For proper management, the teacher put us in groups to care for the vegetables.

The group on duty would work early in the morning and then in the evening.

By the third month, the vegetables were ready. We harvested them and sold them to market vendors. We left some for our meals at school. After selling the vegetables, we were able to buy textbooks for our new library.

Both the parents and teachers were very happy with our class. The head teacher thanked us at assembly. He told the rest of the classes to do similar projects.

Questions

1. Which project did the P.3 class start?
2. Why did they start this project?
3. Mention any two vegetables they grew?
4. What do you learn from the P.3 project?

Activity 10 Comprehension

Read the passage and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

Ways of living in peace

Living in peace with others is good. We can do this by playing and working together. This builds teamwork and friendship among people.

While playing, we need to use polite language not to annoy our friends. In case you knock your friend, you need to say sorry to them. We also need to share food, drinks, pens and sweets with them.

Bad children do things in a different way. They always hide when eating their things. They don't like sharing with others. Sometimes they steal things from their homes and also from school.

Our teachers don't like bad children. They tell us to live in peace with others while at school. They talk to us about good behaviour on parade. They also read to us the school rules to guide us. They discourage us from fighting, stealing, abusing or beating others.

Questions

1. Mention one way children can live in peace
2. Why do good children use polite language while playing?
3. What should you do when you knock your friend?
4. Mention two things bad children do.

Activity 9

Comprehension

Read the passage and answer the questions about it.

Our parents

All children have a right to belong to a family. The parents must make sure that the rights and needs of children are respected.

The fathers must make sure that the children have good homes to live in. They have to look for money to pay their children's school fees. They must also buy for them clothes, books and pens.

The mothers also must make sure that they cook enough food for the children. They must teach children to be responsible as they grow up. It is always good for them to help children learn to do domestic work like; digging, sweeping, washing and fetching water. These are children's responsibilities.

When children fall sick, parents must take them to hospital to get medicine. Sometimes, parents need to prepare special meals for their children to show them how much they care for them.

Questions

1. Who must make sure that children have good homes to live in?

The cultural gathering

My name is Mukasa. Last week, all clan leaders attended a cultural gathering in our village. My father, mother and I went to this gathering. My father wore a kanzu and my mother wore a gomesi. I wore a cultural dress made of bark cloth and animal skin.

The women decorated themselves with beads and bangles. Older men wore bracelets and carried walking sticks. Other people wore headgears and carried gourds and small stools made of skin.

The cultural day brought in many people from near and far. Some of them carried items for selling. They brought baskets, beads, mats and necklaces. My mother bought beds to match her gomesi.

There were more than ten cultural groups entertaining the guests. I was one of the dancers that day. My group sang and danced very well. We got a shied for being the winning cultural group.

Later, the clan leaders talked to the people about the good practices and customs of our culture. They told them to promote good morals, values and unity through tourism as a way to make money.

Activity 7

Comprehension

Read this passage and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

Diseases spread by vectors

Diseases are spread in many ways. One of them is by vectors. Vectors include: mosquitoes, rats, lice, cockroaches, houseflies, tsetse flies, fleas and bedbugs.

The commonest disease spread among people is malaria. Malaria is spread by an infected female anopheles mosquito when it bites you.

To prevent and control mosquito bites, you should sleep under a treated mosquito net. You should also remove stagnant water around your home. This is where the mosquitoes breed. You can also control mosquitoes by spraying them with insecticides.

The houseflies also spread different diseases

This happens when they drop on our food with their dirty legs. Houseflies spread: typhoid, cholera, dysentery and trachoma. Trachoma is a disease which attacks the eyes. A person with trachoma will have red itchy eyes.

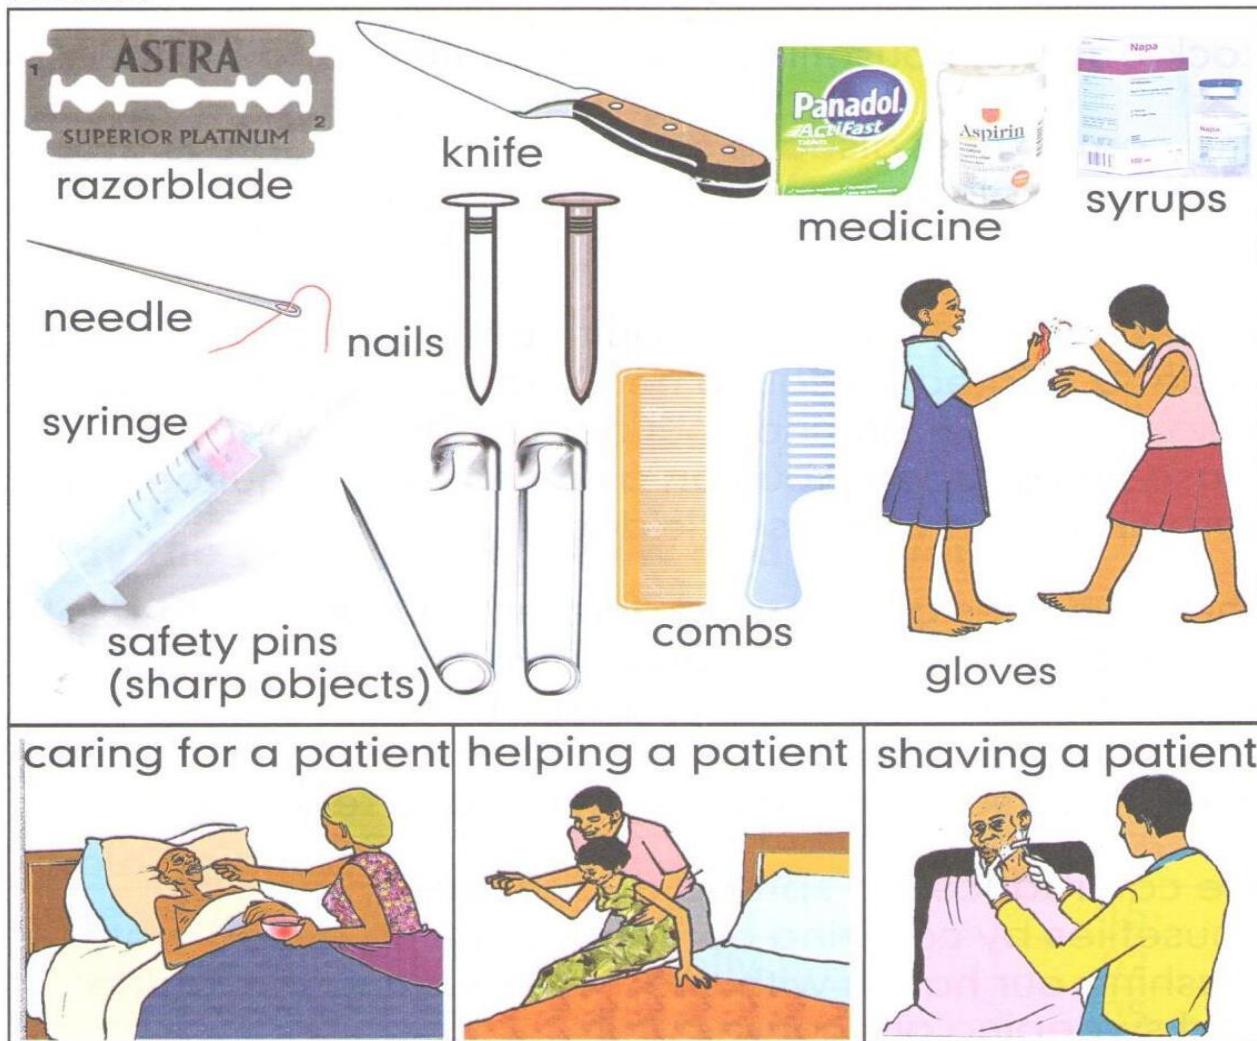

We can reduce the spread of diseases spread by houseflies by covering our food, drinking boiled water, washing our hands with soap after visiting the latrine and sweeping our houses daily.

Questions

1. Mention one vector that spreads diseases
2. Which disease is spread by an infected female anopheles mosquito?
3. Which part of the body does trachoma attack?
4. What should we do after visiting the latrine?

Comprehension

Read the passage and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

How Abuna and his parents get money

People in our Sub-county do different things to get money. Abuna and his parents make crafts to get money. They use natural and artificial materials to make the items they sell.

Natural materials include: banana fibre, sisal, palm leaves, seeds, skins and clay. Artificial materials include; plastics, wires and metal. From banana fibre, they make balls, dolls and ropes. They use seeds to make beads while skins are used to make shoes and belts.

Plastic straws are used to make baskets and mats. Abuna loves making ropes from sisal because they are on high demand. Many people buy them for their animals. Abuna's mother makes mats, bags and hats from palm leaves. Every market day, they take their items to the market to sell. They get many customers who buy their items.

Abuna's parents are happy because they have enough money to look after their children

Questions

1. How do Abuna's parents get money?

Necklaces made from beads

My name is Lukia. I have a friend from Masai land studying at our school. her name is Nyonge. She loves wearing necklaces made from beads.

One day, she invited me to their home. I found her mother busy making necklaces from beads. She welcomed me and Nyonge prepared juice for me. Nyonge mixed water melon, carrots, mangoes and passion fruits with a mixer to make the juice.

When I finished drinking my juice, Nyonge's mother told us to help her sort the beads according to different colours. I was interested in learning how they make these necklaces.

Nyonge's mother gave me a big needle and thread then showed me how they make them.

By the time I left, I had made one necklace. It was a very beautiful necklace. Nyonge's mother gave it to me as a gift. I wore it and everyone who saw me liked it.

Questions

Activity 5

Comprehension

Read this passage and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

How to avoid dangers of fire and electricity

Fire and electricity can be good if well used but can also be very dangerous if you don't use them well.

Electricity is good because it gives us light. We can use it to cook our food on cookers. We can also iron our clothes using electricity. Other people use it to heat their water or even use it in factories and industries to run their machines.

Electricity can be bad because it can shock you and you die if you touch a live wire. It can burn your things like clothes, houses, radios or television set if you do not have proper wiring.

You can avoid such problems by doing good wiring. Good wiring is done by a qualified electrician.

We can control dangers caused by fire in the following ways; you should not leave children to play with fire. You should not leave candles burning in the house at night or putting them near clothes. You should not keep petrol in the house because it can catch fire.

Questions

1. Who should do the wiring?
2. What will happen if you touch a live wire?
3. Why shouldn't you leave candles burning at night?
4. Why is it dangerous to keep petrol in the house?

Activity 6
